Shemmassian Consulting offers dental school admissions consulting with a focus on a highly individualized and data-driven approach. They provide services like application planning, personal statement and essay assistance, interview preparation, and selection of dental schools suited to the applicant's profile. They boast an over 90% success rate for their students getting into U.S. dental schools and emphasize their experience, having been in operation for nearly 20 years. Their team includes consultants with admissions committee experience at top dental schools, and they offer comprehensive service plans tailored to different needs.

<https://bemoacademicconsulting.com/blog/dental-school-admissions-consulting>

BeMo Academic Consulting focuses on dental school admissions consulting, highlighting the competitive nature of dental school admissions. They offer comprehensive services including application planning, preparation for tests like the Dental Aptitude Test (DAT) and CASPer, and guidance on school selection. BeMo emphasizes the importance of a strong application due to the low acceptance rates in dental schools. They also provide information on the cost of hiring a consultant and tips for finding the right one, along with insights on their own consultants' qualifications and success rates.
